

Are we translating knowledge, or is there more to the nexus between research, policy and practice?

You are invited to an exclusive CPHCE workshop where we will explore the dynamics between research, policy development, and practical work with individuals and communities for better health and health equity.

Why?

Knowledge translation (KT) is seen as an important part of our work. KT, however, is protocolised and perhaps too mechanistic. Our own research, policy and practice realities are often more dynamic.

Where?

UNSW AGSM Hugh Dixon theatre

When?

18 April 2019, 10:00-13:00

For whom?

CPHCE members and friends (LHD partners, students)

By

Evelyne de Leeuw
Director, CHETRE

Director, Healthy Urban Environments Collaboratory
PLuS Fellow

How?

Register here: <https://www.surveys.unsw.edu.au/f/163648/3ec2/>