Will you be in Year 9-12 in 2025?

Are you curious about what a career
in engineering might look like for you?

Young Women in Engineering (YoWIE) is all about you!

Young Women in Engineering (YoWIE) 2025 is a free, three-day workshop aimed at inspiring young women to explore the field of engineering. Through engaging hands-on activities, insightful keynote speakers, current engineering students, and women from across various engineering industries, participants will get a taste of university level engineering while developing their skills, confidence, and connections with peers with an interest in science, technology, engineering and mathematics.

Applications open Monday 13 January

Places are limited so register early!

Program details will be released in January 2025!
